The drawing office keeps every revision of a sheet in one file, and the notes beside the title block are edited far more often than the geometry is. A note that has been retyped twice no longer fills its box.